President and CEO
Fédération des chambres de commerce du Québec
(FCCQ)

Charles Milliard is the President and CEO of the Fédération des chambres de commerce du Québec since January 2020. A seasoned manager, he has extensive experience in public affairs, more particularly in the pharmaceutical, health and life sciences sectors. He worked within the Uniprix Group for 14 years, holding several positions within all functions of the organisation. From 2013 to 2016, he assumed the role of Executive vice-president of the group supervising half the staff of the head office. Before joining the FCCQ, he was Vice-President, Health, at NATIONAL, public relations firm.

Over the years, Charles Milliard has acquired a solid experience in the management of strategic and financial challenges, in the development of political and government strategies, and has developed important leadership and public representation skills.

Holder of a bachelor's degree in pharmacy and a certificate in Economics from Laval University, as well as an MBA from HEC Montreal, Charles Milliard is a member of the Ordre des pharmaciens du Québec. He also contributed in different television shows, as a Health columnist in recent years (Radio-Canada, TVA and V). On a personal level, Charles is involved in several cultural organisations, as chairman of the board of directors of the Festival TransAmériques and administrator of the Orchestre Symphonique de Montréal (OSM), the Conseil des Arts de Montréal and the Armand-Frappier Foundation.

About the FCCQ

The Fédération des chambres de commerce du Québec (FCCQ) has a broad network of more than 130 chambres of commerce and 1,100 corporate members; it represents over 50,000 businesses involved in all sectors of the economy throughout Québec. As the province's premier business network, the FCCQ serves as both a federation and a provincial chamber of commerce. Its members share a common goal: to promote an innovative and competitive business environment.
